Mark Clement Named President of TriHealth

Veteran Healthcare Leader Brings Extensive National Experience, Local Roots to TriHealth

Cincinnati, OH (April 15, 2015) – TriHealth announced today Mark Clement has been named President of TriHealth effective May 26. Mark will report directly to TriHealth's current President and Chief Executive Officer John Prout, who will remain in his role as Chief Executive Officer, the organization's highest-ranking official.

A native of Cincinnati, Mark joins TriHealth from Rochester (NY) Regional Health System where he was responsible for transforming Rochester General Health System from a two hospital, $600 million locally focused organization into a $1.9 billion, five hospital regional integrated health delivery system serving more than one million residents of central and western New York.

"Mark is an accomplished and experienced healthcare executive who understands the complexities of a large healthcare system like ours," said Prout. "His track record for working collaboratively and achieving results has been exceptional. We are thrilled to have Mark help lead our organization during this time of healthcare transformation and expect him to play a vital role in the leadership of TriHealth in the years ahead."

Clement, 61, has spent the last 23 years as President or Chief Executive Officer for major healthcare systems or hospitals around the country. Mark served as the President and Chief Executive Officer at Holy Cross Hospital in Chicago (1992-2000), MetroWest Medical Center in Framingham, Massachusetts (2000-2004), St. Elizabeth's Medical Center in Boston (2005-2006) and Rochester General Health System (2006-2014).

"I look forward to joining TriHealth, an organization known for its high-quality, cutting-edge care provided by some of the nation's leading physicians and caregivers," said Clement. "Based on what I've seen across the country, I believe TriHealth is at the forefront of the new health care delivery model and I am excited to join the team taking the organization to the next level."

"During our extensive search, Mark rose to the top because of his experience and leadership in implementing innovative approaches to quality, his knowledge of large integrated healthcare systems and his success in advancing and elevating hospitals' critical service lines," added Prout. "He is uniquely qualified to accelerate our efforts to elevate TriHealth system to the top level of quality performance nationwide."

A 1972 graduate of Moeller High School, Mark earned a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science (1976) and a Master's degree in Hospital and Health Administration (1978) from Xavier University. He and his wife Mary (who also grew up in Cincinnati), have three adult daughters. Mark was born at Good Samaritan Hospital. His father Frank, a physician, completed his post-graduate medical education at Good Samaritan and practiced at Bethesda North Hospital for many years. An endurance athlete, Mark has completed over 30 marathons, including the Boston and Chicago marathons six times each as well as Cincinnati's own Flying Pig Marathon.

"TriHealth is well positioned for the dramatic changes shaping health care by becoming a true regional network delivering the best possible care, more conveniently and efficiently, right where patients live," Clement said "My plan is to partner with our physicians and leaders to continue to stay ahead of these changes, while positioning TriHealth as a model health care system through the innovative regional collaborations and statewide partnerships TriHealth already has underway."
